Oct 31 to Nov 5, 2016

Celebrating vigilance awareness week is an avenue to reach out to the students about the role of vigilance in reducing corruption and enhancing accountability.

Middle school( VI-VIII) -- “public participation in eradicating corruption.”

The students prepared slogans and posters on the topic suggested by CBSE.

and displayed at vantage points around the school.

Secondary (IX & X) - Elocution on “Promoting integrity ensures the prosperity of the nation” held on 1.11.16

In recognition of the National Vigilance Awareness Week, the High School students spoke with insight on ‘Public participation can uphold a nation’s integrity’. They argued that ‘public participation’ begins with small-level individual participation in preserving an individual’s integrity which ultimately promotes the integrity of the community as a whole. Another perspective offered by a tenth-grader was that our culture inclines towards integrity and thus reflecting on the past helps progress to a brighter future.

Nearly eight hundred young minds absorbed these powerful ideas, thus allowing the true and vibrant nature of our democracy to shine with even greater effervescence.

Senior Secondary - A Debate on “e-governance as an effective tool to curb corruption” held on 3.11.16

Following the advice given by the CBSE, the school conducted a debate on “e-governance as an effective tool to curb corruption”. This was an agenda of high importance and values and had quite a lot of arguments. Both the proposition and the opposition were very competitive and put forth well-analyzed constructive arguments packed with research, logic and humor.

The debate started with the proposition thanking E-Governance for the transparency. The Opposition put up a good fight and stated that ‘Hacking’ was an imminent threat and hence could not curb corruption. Apart from that, it wouldn’t be an effective tool since 30% of our population do not have access to such technology. Both the sides brought out a good debate. The Opposition which did not support “e-governance as an effective tool to curb corruption” won the debate. The Debate created an awareness among the students, the future citizens of India, to fight against Corruption in all possible manner and foster integrity.
