

Career Guidance - Ships Ahoy!

On 3rd November 2016, the class 12 students of the science group of Psbb Nungambakkam were a part of a career counselling session on the Merchant Navy. Commodore V. Nathan, an ex-navy officer, currently working in The Anglo-Eastern Shipping Company, elucidated on this adventurous career.

He briefly described the various types of ships that were a part of the magnificent fleet responsible for trade and commerce across various countries, the responsibilities of ship officers of various ranks, and the courses and training offered in their academy. He convinced the audience with the gleaming perks offered by the company with an interesting insight into the various places that would be scoured by the employees.

A Q & A session followed in which students were encouraged to enquire on other vital details like educational and health qualifications, salaries for various positions, and many more. Students were inspired by the stories of the captains of various ships, who have been at the helm of responsibility, with a large crew and irrevocable resources.

The session was an eye opener to an unusual yet an exciting career that truly won the hearts and dreams of many.

Varsha H, 12 A

Reporter

Cyber Pigeons, PSBB NGM