

Report on Kids for Tigers National Camp 2017

The annual Kids For Tigers National Camp was held at Ranthambore National Tiger Reserve, Rajasthan from April 10th to 12th, 2017. Netra Krishna of class 8C of PSBB T.Nagar who was selected as one of the 9 tiger ambassadors from all over India got a wonderful opportunity to attend the national camp along with Mrs. Priya Narasimhan. The students were selected as Tiger Ambassadors on the basis of their year-long conservation efforts and commitment to nature protection. Dr. Parvish Pandya, an ornithologist, wild life expert and professor of Zoology at Bhavan's college, Mumbai was the camp instructor. In the camp they went on 3 safaris in the forest and learnt about wildlife conservation and gain a first-hand understanding of the umbilical connection between protecting our forests, wildlife and India's food and water security. The group was lucky to spot many tigers and cubs over 3 days and several animals like spotted deer, Black Buck, Sambar deer, crocodiles, leopard etc. Nearly 80 species of birds could be spotted and these winged creatures ranged in different sizes and colours. The children were exposed to many presentations, street play and discussions as well to enable kids to develop an appreciation of nature. .
