

NO FENCES, NO WALLS, NO CAGES

As part of a fancy dress competition for Std II, a mom - daughter duo literally took the audience on a virtual tour of the natural habitats - Rainforest, Grasslands, cold arctic and the hot desert on December 6, 2017 at Sri Y.G. P. Auditorium. It was enriching experience at PSBB, T. Nagar, as they went winging over the Amazon rain forest, got caught in a traffic jam on hooves in the grassland, trekking through the freezing Arctic and drove into the hot desert.

The audience was engrossed in the show as the animals loomed before them delivering their dialogues in the form of poetry, subtly requesting us all not to capture and put them in cages. The message, “End captive breeding and protect habitats for animals to grow healthy and strong” was conveyed through a foot tapping song. By the looks of happy and eager smiles it was evident that the audience wanted more. The programme concluded with a message to cheer them up. The speaker implored the audience to explore their own garden which is a natural habitat for creatures living there.
