

A “musical” conversation

“Make some form of art a part of your daily life” was something that two of our famed alumni, successful Carnatic Vocalists Vasudha Ravi(PSBB NGM) and Vidya Kalyanaram(PSBB KKN)reiterated through their ‘talk’ with the students of PSBB. T.Nagar.January 17, 2018 had every brick in the YGP auditorium reverberate with music. They spoke predominantly on their successful careers as professional Carnatic Vocalists and how the school helped them carve their musical journey. They had been encouraged through several Bhajan Competitions and been provided with innumerable recording opportunities. They highlighted the importance of having to balance their extra-curricular interests and academics, not giving up on either and having to emerge successful in both.

Making some form of art a part of your daily life, according to them, ensured we learn to stay creative, focus and concentrate; and being interested in an art form like music, ensured we are constantly associated with our culture, tradition, and stay close to our roots. This way, an art like music reinforces the need to adhere to human values, which in turn not only makes us a talented person, but also a better human being.

The distinguished singers presented their speeches in the format of an interesting conversation with each other, sharing a very pleasant and lively comradeship. Their musical renditions were mellifluous. Students were encouraged to try out simple ragas and their enthusiasm was evident from the fact that many of them flocked around the singers after the programme to interact with them!
