

The Joy of Giving

For the 4th consecutive year Avyukth Bala of III D, an 8 year old social activist has been spending time on Diwali Eve with children in a tribal village and sponsoring useful gifts for them. This year he took up an underprivileged village by name Nallore which is about 70 kms from Chennai. Nallore village has 40 children of various age groups. He distributed dresses to all kids with the help of his uncles and aunts who encourage his activities year after year through sponsorship. The children were joyful receiving new clothes, crackers and sweets, followed by a happy dance.
