

One Earth, One Tribe.

The Std III Fancy Dress event was a colorful and memorable cultural extravaganza that took the audience on an enthralling trip around the World of tribes. It was mesmerizing to watch each of the participants talk about the unique culture and tradition and perform a dance or song from each of the chosen tribal groups from around the world. The show was beautifully anchored by the students of class III who presented the show with a lot of enthusiasm. True to the quote, “Ultimately, we all belong to one tribe, to Earthlings”, the motto of the chosen theme was to make the children aware of different cultures followed around the world and appreciate the similarities and differences in life.

The spirit of the event was heightened by the dance show that was set to tribal beats. The vibrance and energy of the students was infectious and caught on to everyone present there making it thoroughly enjoyable afternoon.

And finally, the song “It’s a Small World” only made true the entire essence of the show which was One Earth, One Tribe.
